

Refrigerant Price Changes March & April 2026

6 February 2026

To our valued customers,

Further to our previous communications regarding refrigerant and commodity pricing, we wish to advise of upcoming refrigerant price increases to assist with your operations planning.

Refrigerant products R32, R407C and R410A will increase on the 2nd of March 2026. Whilst the March price changes are limited to the above products, all Refrigerants will be subjected to change in April.

Quotation terms have also been recently updated and we encourage customers to use the Beijer Ref RefShop or contact their nearest branch or representative before placing orders.

We continue to encourage the use of alternative low-GWP refrigerants for R404A and R507 applications and systems. Our technical team and branch staff are available to support you with information and product selection to assist with this transition. For further details, please visit <https://gas2go.com.au/products/>.

These first pricing changes will be effective in our system from 2nd March, 2026 with the next scheduled increase on 6th of April 2026.

Thank you for your continued business and support.

Best regards,

The team at Beijer Ref Australia
